How to make a website responsive.

The Process

- Determine what content is extra
  - Does that h1 need a h2 under it?
  - Will that one liner get the visitor to understand my site or is it extra?
- Determine what content needs to be visible
  - Is it necessary to show my entire nav if there are other ways of getting to navigation?
- Identify extra styling
  - Do my columns need a border if they're stacked?
